

Chaim Kramer – Parshat Toldot

written by Chaim Kramer

November 20, 2022

Chaim Kramer discusses this week's Torah portion Toldot, which focuses on the spiritual and material conflict between Jacob and Esau, beginning before they were even born, through the selling of the birthright for a bowl of lentil soup, and continuing today. Reb Chaim shows the connection between Rebbe Nachman's story, The Exchanged Children, and the ongoing battle between Yakov and Esav, both the external battle and the internal battle, that of body and soul.
