

Connect

written by breslov.org

December 26, 2013

Rebbe Nachman said, "One should love his friend, especially followers of the true tzaddik, as [he loves] his own self. Every day, he should discuss the true purpose of life with them. In this way he can receive from the other's good point, because every Jew has a unique good point, what no one else has (Likutey Moharan I, 34,5).

In order for us to grow spiritually, we must find others on a similar mission to connect with. We present the following tools as a starting point to discovering partners in your spiritual quest.

Ask a Breslover

Breslov Connect – Find a study partner

Newsletters – Stay connected with spirituality in your inbox

Local Classes

Events