Fill your day with Rebbe Nachman's teachings!

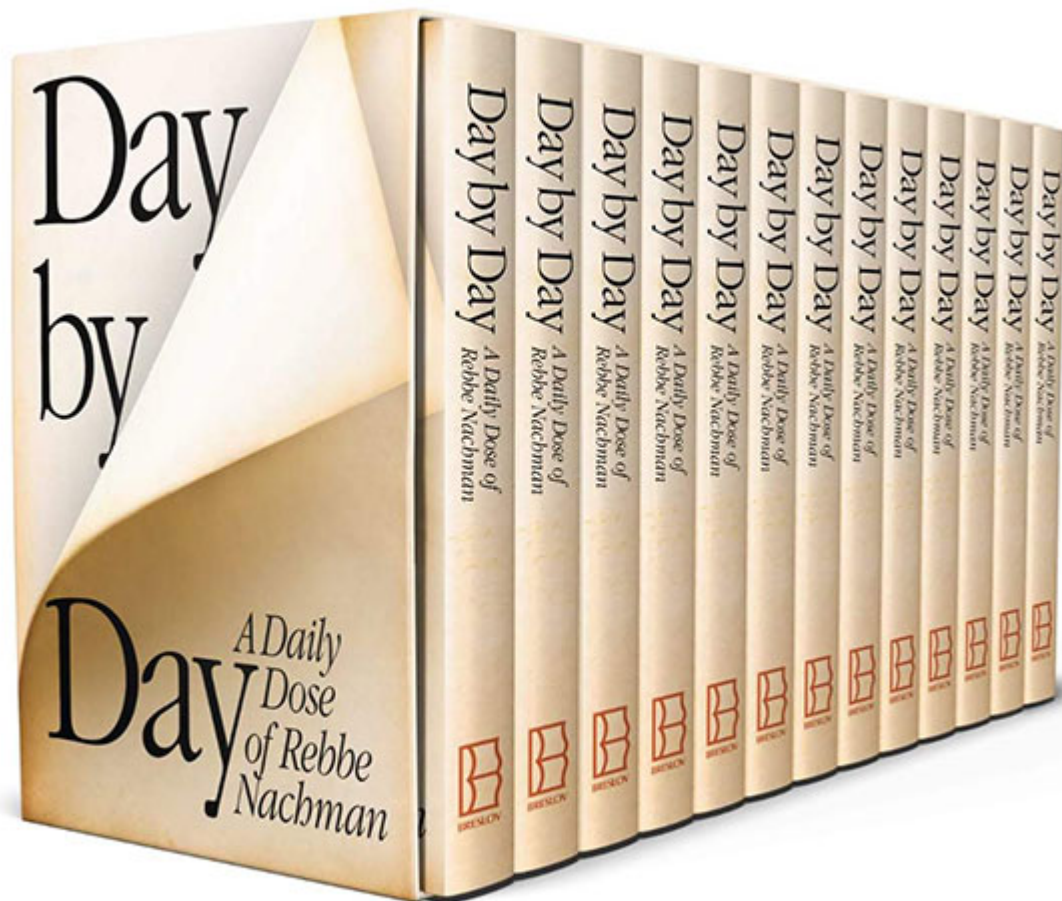

How many times have you really wanted to be able to learn Rebbe Nachman's life-changing teachings, and incorporate them into your daily routine, but were deterred because you didn't know how you'd ever manage to cover all of the material?

Rebbe Nachman said:

The best way to study his works was to follow two separate routines. The first should be one of study at speed so as to become thoroughly conversant with the books. The second should be one of study in depth, because his books contain the profoundest depths.

He also once encouraged someone to study his book. He said it was a great mitzvah to study it at length, and he told him that one could develop a great mind through doing so, because even in its literal interpretation the work contains profound wisdom and depth. Those who study his works constantly can become pure and holy and will then be worthy of seeing the inner meaning they contain. Beneath the surface there is much that is not evident at all on a literal level. Happy is the one who can study them regularly. (Tzaddik 346-347)

A few years ago, one of our friends suggested adopting for the English crowd the idea that has already existed in Hebrew for decades: to collect all the basic Breslov texts into one book so that it would be possible to study the works on a regular basis, going through them “at speed” as per Rebbe Nachman’s instruction.

This project took many years and went through many iterations until finally, it was completed two years ago. We named it Day by Day. The set comprises 10 classic Breslov texts:

Tzaddik

Rebbe Nachman’s Wisdom

The Aleph-Bet Book

Kitzur Likutey Moharan (Abridged Likutey Moharan)

Rebbe Nachman’s Stories

Restore My Soul

Outpouring of the Soul

The Collected Letters of Reb Noson

Shemot HaTzaddikim (Names of the Tzaddikim)

The Fiftieth Gate: Reb Noson’s Prayers

The purpose of the book is to enable the user to go through all these texts daily, according to the Jewish calendar, with an organized study schedule. To this end, we even prepared a special volume for Adar Sheini when there is a leap year so as not to disrupt the flow during a regular year.

This coming year 5782 is a leap year, 13 Months -13 Volumes, and it is your chance to join the expanded circle of hundreds of learners who have already completed this course of study. The book was edited and formatted in a way that would be as user-friendly, clear and self-explanatory as possible. This is your opportunity to join and thereby fulfill Rebbe Nachman's desire!

In addition to the print book, we've invested tremendous efforts to build within the Breslov.org app a feature with the daily learning that corresponds exactly to what appears in the book. Therefore, if someone is on the way to work, stuck in traffic, or unable to access the book for whatever reason, they can complete the day's learning from the app without having to miss a day. We are regularly working to maintain and upgrade the app so that you can continue benefiting from it.

Now, we are offering a very special discounted price for the set – just $139.99 – so that you can begin learning already on the first day of Tishrei. Press HERE to order

As we prepare to reprint the set, we are offering special dedication opportunities. You can sponsor a day in honor of a yahrtzeit, birthday, wedding anniversary or any other special day. You could also sponsor the week of the parshah that you feel especially connected to. In this way you will gain the merit of printing this holy set while bringing merit to the public through its dissemination.

Each day is sold only once! Sponsors will receive a name dedication printed in the book.

Dedications for a day can be paid for in 20 monthly payments, beginning at just $18 a month. Those who sponsor a week will receive a free set.
